

ROUND 2 QUICK QUOTES
July 25, 2025

RICO HOEY (-9)

Q. Six under for the day, how are you feeling heading into the weekend?

RICO HOEY: Pretty good, yeah. Anytime you make the weekend it's always nice. Not packing up early or trunk slamming, so happy to play the weekend.

Q. Made a good push last week at Barracuda. What were takeaways from that brought into this week?

RICO HOEY: Yeah, it was fun. I think just playing in the final group Saturday and Sunday was a huge learning curve for me so it was great. Feel like my game's kind of trending the right way so just kind of putting puzzles together and hopefully it all kind of comes together, right?

Q. Anything specific you've been putting together or just generally playing well?

RICO HOEY: Just playing well. I've been ball-striking it well and I'm just trying to get the putter hot, that's just one thing I'm trying to get better at each and every day. So hopefully the putter gets better and better each week and we'll see what happens.

Q. How would you assess your season so far and what were your goals (inaudible)?

RICO HOEY: Yeah, I would say I've been describing my year as it's nothing bad but it's nothing great, so it's one of those I'm just kind of plugging along the way. I haven't had hot weeks but I haven't had bad weeks either. So I'm hoping to get on that hot stretch now, and the goal is just the next two weeks just hopefully squeeze into the top-70, make the Playoffs and see what we can do.

Q. So are Playoffs on your mind this week?

RICO HOEY: Yeah, of course.

Q. Looking at the projections and points?

RICO HOEY: Yeah, of course, you're always looking at it, but by the end of the day good golf takes care of itself and I'm just going to see what I can do.
